3 TIPS FOR MAXIMIZING COLOR PROFITS

- Do your homework: concentrate on stocking up on colors that are primarily used on your existing clientele. Go through client profiles and make a list of colors they use repeatedly to form a foundational color bar stocklist.
- Measure twice, mix once: minimize waste with more precise formulations. While it may seem like a quarter of an ounce here or a half an ounce there—imprecise color formulations can add up to big money fairly quickly. The last thing a colorist wants is to see is potential profit going down the drain.
- Stock up to save: keep an eye on your most used shades and stock up when promotions are available. Not only will you save on the upfront, but if you are a member of our Loyalty Program, you can earn points towards future purchases too!
